The Third Day Wednesday, the 30th of October, 2013

The Field Visit

BCRC-Egypt organized a field visit to the port of Alexandria in which participants visited three sites in Alexandria port, according to the following:

- The first location of Alexandria Port museum where participants reviewed most important features of the port of Alexandria and Eldekhela Port
- The Second site was the neglected and sales department (Rome store) where there are many stored items of miscellaneous goods
- The Third site was Alexandria traffic management department, where participants were received by Mr. Saeed Abdul Rahim, Director General of Customs and imports of Alexandria who showed the group several containers that were normally open.

RECOMMENDATIONS

- Activate communication channels between stakeholders (internally – externally).
- Create a committee from the Ministries of Finance, Environment, Commerce, Interior and Defense and Maritime Transport Sector, that should meet every 3 months for periodic review of legal and technical frameworks and follow-up with any international obligations, in order to remove obstacles and put the executive solutions urgent for emergency problems.
- BCRC-Egypt, should coordinate with the Ministry of Environment, the Customs Department and the Green Customs Initiative, to develop complete guide for all decisions and publications related to chemicals and hazardous waste.
- Provide safety equipment with technical guidance for customs officers
- The above committee should coordinate with public and private sectors to hold inventories for quantities and types of waste accumulations in ports and free zones for safe disposal.
- Permanent coordination with ports affairs and environmental protection Committees
- Encourage investment in the field of recycling and recovery of materials and waste generated from projects of the free zone areas.
- Guidance to the radiation and nuclear agency to provide all customs ports with radiation detection equipment for imported goods
- Activate the legal prosecution of offenders and revealing their names and companies on the public level.
- Considering the workshop participants as focal points for their authorities to follow up with the implementation of these recommendations.

CONCLUSIVE REMARKS

- There is a need for creating of partnerships and mechanisms for exchange of information, experience and best practices in order to combat the illicit trade and improve environmental management of HW.
- There is a need for creating integration of stakeholders concerned with the transboundary movements of HW covered by the Montreal Protocol, Rotterdam, Stockholm and Basel Conventions, that should help customs to actively participate in global efforts to preserve and protect the environment.
- There is a great need to raise awareness among the target groups, as well as at the level of senior management and decision-makers,
- More trainings are needed on both administrative and field levels for customs officers on the border points and ports to provide them with all the information, tools and full logistic support to continue their challenge against environmental crimes lines.
